Sunday, June 2 - Mark Lavengood

Long-time friend of Camp Blodgett, Mark Lavengood will share his energetic wit and lively take on modern bluegrass with songs from his latest album WE'VE COME ALONG. "On We've Come Along, Mark shows his diversity as a musician and a dobro player. This record has it all: bluegrass, jams, solo slide performances and more!" - Andy Hall, the Infamous Stringdusters

Sunday, July 21 - Peter Mulvey

Peter Mulvey will return once again to share heart-felt tales of his life on the road and deeply moving music from his recently released THERE IS ANOTHER WORLD. This record is a vivid dreamscape of imagistic, haiku-like auditory sketches, within which are plenty of wrenching, haunting, and even sweet songs.

Sunday, August 18 - Fauxgrass

The Fauxgrass approach to music, both original and traditional, has landed them a place in the progressive bluegrass community since their inception back in 2011. Their creative method to a familiar musical style is a breath of fresh air, and something worth experiencing for the acoustic music lover.
